PREFACE

This compilation of the air task organizations of the Atlantic Ocean Areas is believed to be reasonably complete and accurate. The basic source of information has been the operation plans and orders on file in Naval Records and Library, but data on the movement of units between the issuance of operation plans has come from war diaries, base, squadron and wing histories. In many cases where the organization of the command in a given area has been intricate and confusing, administrative histories were consulted and were found most helpful in clarifying the command relationships. This was particularly true in the case of the Eastern Sea Frontier.

The organization of U.S. Naval Forces in Europe is incomplete for the early days of the war because very little information was available in war diaries, no operation plans could be found, and no administrative history had been submitted.

When the sections on the sea frontiers, European waters and the South Atlantic were completed, it was found that the activities of the escort carrier task forces, and of air operations from Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland had not been included in any of the designated areas. Therefore, a section on the U.S. Fleet was added, giving the various operation plans, but footnoting only the activities that had not already been covered in the area treatment.

(Footnotes)

1. Before Dec. 1941, Atlantic Fleet had its training program at NAS Norfolk and NAS Quonset Point with Fleet Officers in command. The Naval Districts had own NAS with some planes assigned to District by VCNO. When Frontier Forces were organized, it was planned to activate the Local Defense Forces of the Naval District Commanders; but these forces were wholly inadequate. Only two squadrons were available by 12 Jan. 1942 (VS-1D3, NAS, New York and VS-1D1, NAS, Squantum, Massachusetts).
2. On 10 March 1941, RAdm A. Andrews, USN, was made Commander, North Atlantic Naval Coastal Frontier in addition to his duties as Com III. The Commandants of First, Fourth and Fifth Naval Districts were placed in his command. On 7 September 1941 ComInch clarified the position by stating that Naval Coastal Frontier Forces (air and sea) would be composed of Naval Local Defense Forces. These would be made up of units assigned by the respective Commandants of Naval Districts from forces available to them. CNA-NCF was made a TF Commander with Naval District Commandants as TG Commanders.
3. The region controlled by CNA-NCF (ComEasSeaFron) was modified in the period of its existence as follows: Dec. 1940 - St. John, New Brunswick, to Cherry Point, N. C. (approximately 150 miles off shore); Feb. 28, 1942 - St. John, New Brunswick, to Jacksonville, Florida (approximately 150 miles off shore); June 12, 1942 - present - St. John, New Brunswick, to Jacksonville, Florida (approximately 300 miles off shore).
4. Following 7 December 1941, CNA-NCF called upon his TG Commanders (Coms I, IV and V) to prepare to defend their districts and convoys passing through from impending attacks by Axis U-boats. A number of small Navy and civilian craft were available, but air support was almost wholly lacking. Army A/S units were at once brought in to provide both inshore and off shore patrols "because the Frontier possessed no planes capable of sea search." Certain Coast Guard units at Salem, New York, and Elizabeth City, flew patrols with obsolete and unarmed aircraft at the same time.

1. Title Naval Coastal Frontier changed to Sea Frontier in March 1942.
2. Cominch refused in January request for transfer of Fleet Aircraft to Sea Frontier. 14 Feb. 1942, ComEasSeaFron advised that Fleet Aircraft based at Norfolk, Virginia, and Quonset Point, R. I. with advanced bases farther afield could be used by ComEasSeaFron (ComNav Districts) in emergencies only and not for routine patrols.
3. Beside the squadrons at Squantum and New York, miscellaneous Coast Guard Aircraft at New York, Elizabeth City and Salem, and Army Anti-Submarine Units, CNA-NCF had available on 31 Jan. 1942: two OS2U's at NAS Quonset Point; 3 J2F-5's at NAS New York; one J2F-5, one IBY and two ATBF-1's at NAS Norfolk; and three J2F-5's at CGAS, Elizabeth City.
4. Component parts of Northern Patrol Group are controlled operationally by their respective Naval District Commanders.
5. Commissioned 22 Dec. 1941 under ComNorthern Air Group (CNA-NCF)
6. Commissioned 13 Jan. 1942 under ComNorthern Air Group (CNA-NCF)
7. Reported to ComEasSeaFron at Norfolk, 28 March 1942.
8. On 28 March 1942, Cominch assigned a number of OS2U aircraft, originally destined for the British, to ComEasSeaFron and CGSF. Of these ComEasSeaFron apportioned 6 aircraft to VS-1D1, 6 to VS-1D3, and 18 to VS-1D5.
9. Commissioned 2 January 1942 under CNA-NCF.
10. Formally assigned to Frontier by Cominch, 7 February 1942.

ORGANIZATION OF AIR FORCES IN EASTERN SEA FRONTIER

15 APRIL 1942 - 5 JULY 1942

(Footnotes)

1. Fleet Air was reorganized in July 1942 with Com1stWingLant (CFatWingPac) at top. Under them were Patrol Wings which exercised administrative control of Fleet Aircraft. Wing Commanders of PatWings 5 and 7 (for example) located within the EasSeaFron command, could be utilized as TG Commanders by ComEasSeaFron to control Squadrons assigned by Fleet to the SeaFrontier. Actually, the operations of Fleet aircraft continued to be controlled by ComEasSeaFronFor through Naval District Commandants.
2. Relations between ComEasSeaFron and Cinclant, ComEasSeaFron and Army were "clarified" in June 1942: SeaFrontiers made equals of LantFlt under Cominch except that "Commanders of Sea Frontiers are responsible to Cinc of appropriate fleets only for operations which involve cooperation or coordination between Fleet forces and Sea Frontier Forces." In this case ComSeaFronFor acts as TF Commander of Fleet. Within EasSeaFron organization, Commanding General of I BomCom was made TG Commander. His units were not operated under Naval District Commandants as TG Commanders of EasSeaFronFor as were the Navy and Coast Guard Air and Surface Units.
3. A Detachment established at Bangor, Maine, 29 April 1942 and decommissioned 20 May 1942. Lewiston Detachment formed 5 May 1942.
4. Assigned to ComEasSeaFron 15 April 1942 - based at Quonset Point - withdrawn 30 July 1942.
5. Detachment assigned to ComEasSeaFron in May and withdrawn in July. Based at NAS Quonset Point, Rhode Island.
6. Transferred to FatWing 9, 10 June 1942. Detachments established later at Norfolk, Cherry Point, North Carolina, and Jacksonville, Fla.
7. Assigned to NAS Norfolk, 12 April 1942. On 12 May, a 3-plane detachment was set up at NAS Charleston. When squadron was transferred to FAN-7 on 1 June 1942, a 1-plane detachment remained at Quonset Point, R.I. This was withdrawn in July.
8. Assigned to ComEasSeaFron 26 April 1942 - remained at NAS Norfolk until 4 May 1942 - at which time it was sent to NAS Cape May. On 23 August 1942, it was withdrawn from control of ComEasSeaFron.

Footnotes (cont.)

9. A detachment of four planes assigned to ComEasSeaFron for A/S patrol during month of June 1942.
10. Assigned to ComEasSeaFron 30 March 1942. First based at Norfolk with detachment at MCAS, Cherry Point. On 12 April 1942 Squad moved to Cherry Point, N. C. Withdrawn in September 1942 from control of ComEasSeaFron.
11. Transferred to PatWing 5, 14 May 1942. In June under operational control of ComEasSeaFron and was based until 25 Sept. 1942 at Norfolk. Transferred to PatWing 11 at that date.
12. Detachment of one blimp established at CCAS, Elizabeth City, N. C. between 10 - 19 June 1942.
13. Detachments of these squadrons assigned to ComEasSeaFron in May and June were based at NAS Jacksonville, Florida.
14. Detachments at Jacksonville and Charleston established under ComEasSeaFron 14 May 1942. Withdrawn 8 June 1942.
15. Assigned to ComEasSeaFron 3 March 1942, but did not begin A/S operations until 31 May 1942 when it was set up at NAS Jacksonville. Detachments sent to Quonset Point, Cherry Point, and Charleston during fall. Detached by ComEasSeaFron 16 January 1943.

ORGANIZATION OF AIR FORCES IN EASTERN SEA FRONTIER

6 JULY 1942 - 9 OCTOBER 1943

(Footnotes)

1. In his #9-42 OpPlan, ComEasSeaFron employed Task Force designation of United States Fleet rather than that of the Atlantic Fleet. This was thought more appropriate since Frontier Commanders since June were considered subordinates of Atlantic Fleet only in emergencies.
2. Although the U. S. Tenth Fleet (A/S Warfare) was organized 19 May 1943 with all the East Coast frontiers included, ComEasSeaFron does not reflect this change in his TF organization until OpPlan #2-43, dated 10 October 1943.
3. On 17 Oct. 1943, Inshore Patrol Squadrons were all transferred to the Atlantic Fleet and immediately reassigned to the Frontiers. Thus after this date Naval District and Frontier Force Commanders had no squadrons not assigned by Fleet Commanders.
4. By December Fleet Squadrons were under Fleet Air Commanders for maintenance and training and under Sea Frontier Commander for operational control.
5. Decommissioned 11 February 1943.
6. Commissioned 11 February 1943.
7. Commissioned 6 September 1943.
8. Withdrawn from control of ComEasSeaFron (CTF 90) 15 September 1942. On 10 June 1942, detachments were established at Norfolk and Cherry Point, N. C.
9. Withdrawn from control of ComEasSeaFron (CTF 90) 30 July 1942.
10. Commissioned 20 August 1942. Reported to ComBatting 9 (CESF) 26 October 1942.
11. Transferred to ComEasSeaFron 30 September 1942. Headquarters set up at CGAS Elizabeth City in October 1942. Detachments established at Quonset Point, R.I., October 1942; at Argentia under CFAW 7, November and December 1942; and at NAS Jacksonville, Florida, February 1943. Squadron changed to VB-105, 5/15/43 and re-equipped with FB4Y aircraft. On 5/15/43, Headquarters changed to MCAS, Cherry Point, N.C. with a detachment at Quonset Point. Withdrawn from control of ComEasSeaFron June 1943.

29. In September 1943, Civilian Air Patrol and Army A/S Units replaced in EasSeaFron by Navy planes of FAW 9.
30. On 1 December 1942 Airship Group One at Lakehurst was ordered to report to Cinclant instead of to ComEasSeaFron.
31. On 1 August 1943 Cominch authorized the merging of activities of FAW 9 and FAW 5 with CFAW 9 responsible for maintenance of Fleet aircraft in the whole Eastern Sea Frontier. FAW 5 was made a training wing. Hedron 9 was broken into Hedron 9-1 (Quonset Point) and 9-2 (Norfolk).
32. September 1943, New York became home base of FAW 9 and CFAW 9 was assigned additional duty of EasSeaFron Air Officer.

NOTES ON THE COMPOSITION OF U.S. NAVAL FORCES IN EUROPE

( AIR FORCE )

With the exception of the ship based forces listed above, U.S. Navy planes did not operate in European waters until August 1943.

Prior to that date, anti-submarine coverage of the approaches to the United Kingdom was maintained by planes of the R.A.F. Coastal Command and of the U.S. Army Air Forces, while Fleet Air Wing SEVEN was cooperating with Canadian and British activities in covering the northern convoy route from bases in Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland.

In August 1943, Fleet Air Wing SEVEN began to move from its northern bases into the United Kingdom to supplement the anti-submarine activities of the U.S. Army Air Forces. The first U.S. Navy Squadron to operate from the United Kingdom was VP-63, which moved from Iceland to Pembroke Dock, South Wales, on 20 July 1943, and was based there until 15 December 1943, when it was transferred to Fleet Air Wing FIFTEEN at Port Lyautey, French Morocco. The headquarters of Fleet Air Wing SEVEN were moved from Argentina to Plymouth and other squadrons were flown in, until by 29 March 1944 the task organization shown below had been established.

All operations by Fleet Air Wing SEVEN and its constituent squadrons were under the operational control of the 19th Group of the R.A.F. Coastal Command. For administration, the wing reported to CinCLant until 26 April 1944, when it was transferred to the ~~THIRTY~~ Fleet.

U.S. Naval Forces in Europe were designated as the FIFTH Fleet, effective 1 October 1943. The FIFTH Fleet was largely an administrative command, embracing all United States naval forces assigned to British waters and the Atlantic Coastal waters of Europe. ComNavFu was responsible for the maintenance and training of all U.S. Naval units in the area. For operations connected with the invasion of Europe, he assigned appropriate task forces to the operational control of the British Admiral commanding the Allied naval contingent of the Supreme Command. The development of the FIFTH Fleet is not undertaken in this guide, apart from its air force, which was limited to the activities of Fleet Air Wing SEVEN. <sup>1/</sup> <sup>2/</sup> The composition of that wing until August 1945 is given on the following pages.

<sup>1/</sup> One other naval aviation activity existed briefly and was not under Fleet Air Wing SEVEN. Before the Normandy Invasion, the seventeen naval aviators from the USS QUINCY, KANAWHA, TUSCHLOUGH, and TEXAS were trained to fly Splitfires by the U.S. Army 67th Reconnaissance Group, 9th Tactical Air Force, and formed a part of the Air Spot Pool, which operated from B.L.A.S., Lee-on-Solent from D to D + 4 Day.

<sup>2/</sup> In January 1945, the EIGHTH U. S. Fleet, under Command Naval Forces Northwest African Waters, became a task force of the FIFTH Fleet. For the composition of air forces in the EIGHTH U.S. Fleet and in the task force which it became, see the Guide to the Composition of the EIGHTH U.S. Fleet.

On 29 July 1944 a detachment of VB-114 was established at Lages in the Azores, reporting to FAW-9 for administration. Operational control was under the British and the planes bore both British and American insignia. On 7 February 1945 the detachment of VB-114 rejoined the squadron in the Azores.
